

Dr Lydia Kulik has a PhD in History of International Relations, Moscow State Institute of International Relations, MGIMO University. She also obtained an MBA in Entrepreneurship and Emerging Markets, Moscow School of Management SKOLKOVO.

Lydia has over 19 years of professional experience in civil service, corporate sector and in the academic field. She started her career at the Russian Ministry of Foreign Affairs after graduating from the prestigious Moscow State Institute of International Relations (MGIMO University) specializing in British and South Asian studies. Later as Vice President at SUN Group, an Indian family-owned venture capital company, Lydia was based in New Delhi and was responsible for strategic communications, public relations and philanthropic activities of the company in India, Russia and other emerging market countries.

Lydia studied essentials of management at the Aresty Institute of Executive Education at the Wharton School and received her MBA from the Moscow School of Management SKOLKOVO. She received her PhD in history of international relations from MGIMO University and has multiple publications in various academic magazines in Russia.

Lydia is a regular speaker at international conferences, such as World Chinese Economic Forum and others. Lydia speaks Russian, English and Hindi.